WORLD-HERALD URGES FEDERAL CASH FOR UNI.

Would Use Government Funds to Erect
New Buildings.

GRANT POSSIBLE

The erection of new buildings for the Municipal University of Omaha as a part of the federal work relief program was advocated by the Omaha World-Herald in an editorial appearing in Tuesday's edition.

If a strong enough case were made for the Omaha University project it is possible that an outright grant of federal funds might be made, the article stated.

"The Municipal University has grown almost to the limit of its physical capacity on the present campus," the World-Herald declared. "Yet increasing numbers of students keep knocking at its doors. The regents dropped, as too wieldily, the plan to ask the legislature to authorize them to go into debt in order to take advantage of PWA funds for buildings.

"They might carefully explore, however, the possibility of a federal grant for new construction. Even if such a grant were made contingent upon the University obtaining a new and adequate campus, the regents ought not hesitate to take an option upon the necessary ground, if the federal government would finance a building program."

No more desirable work could be done for Omaha than the enlargement of the physical plant of its public schools and University, the editorial stated.

Macy Baum, '38, was unanimously elected president of the Beta Tau Kappa fraternity at a meeting held Saturday, May 11, at the home of Morris Fisher. Harold Kort, '36, and Sylvan Frankel, '38, were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Contest Judges Make Selections

Preliminary judges in the contest to select the best editorial, feature, and news story in The Gateway for the past two semesters have picked out ten articles in each class to be given to the final judges, who will name the winners. A. Edwin Callin, chairman of the committee, said Wednesday.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Volta Torrey, '35, and Mr. A. M. Johnson, instructor in English. A committee of Omaha newspapermen will act as final judges. They will be selected from the staffs of the World-Herald and Bee-News.

Prizes to consist of either cash or books will be awarded by the Board of Student Publications at Commencement, June 6.

He also receives a large share of the surplus accruing after expenses of printing the directory are paid.

University Band Will Give First Annual Concert

The first annual band concert of the Municipal University of Omaha band will be held on Monday, May 20, at 8:15 in Jacobs Hall, with nearly 45 University students participating.

The band will be directed by Mr. Henry G. Cox, instrumental music director, assisted by Thomas Organ, '35, president of the band, and Evelyn McDonald, '35, who will direct her own composition.

The band was organized in September, 1934, by Thomas Organ, and the band has been rehearsing every Monday night at Central High school. Mr. Cox has donated his services during the past year.

The Department of Music at the University, under Mr. Martin Bush, its head, gave all the department's available funds for the purchase of band instruments in October, and thus enabled the band to produce this program.

The officer-members of the University band are: Thomas Organ, president; Robert Brown, '35, vice president, and Perry Rushlau, ex '36, librarian.

For the first time in five years a girl will be editor of the Gateway, Municipal university of Omaha student newspaper.

She is Miss Ellen Hartman, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hartman, 2917 No. 59th St.

Miss Hartman, sophomore, was selected Monday to head the staff for the semester beginning in September. The choice was made by the university board of publications, headed by Royce West.

In accepting the position, Miss Hartman declared she was opposed to the tendency among college editors to join radical movements and said she would steer the Gateway clear of such entanglements during her term.

John Pearson, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Pearson, 1322 No. 36th St., was named managing editor to assist Miss Hartman. Macy Baum, freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baum, 2513 Seward St., was appointed business manager and contributing editor. Miss Hartman, Pearson and Baum will appoint other staff members.

WORK RELIEF AND BUILDINGS

THE allotment of federal work relief funds for the erection of new buildings for Omaha University as advocated by the Omaha World-Herald appeals to us as a most sensible suggestion.

No one denies that Omaha University is overcrowded. The project would do much to cut down unemployment in Omaha. The purchase of building materials and the hiring of labor would stimulate recovery. There would be no extra burden to Omaha taxpayers because of this project. It is certain that a portion of the federal work relief funds will be allotted to Omaha.

In view of the foregoing we can see no reason why the regents should not act upon the suggestion of the World-Herald and make an immediate and vigorous attempt to secure a portion of these funds for the proposed new University buildings. There is no burden to fall on Omaha taxpayers and work would be furnished hundreds of Omahans for several months. In the end Omaha would have something substantial in the form of new buildings which will last many years to show for the work.

The World-Herald editorial urging the regents to act in this matter is the first step in securing a portion of work relief funds for the new buildings. The next step awaits the Board of Regents.

STUDENT ELECTION

THE Student Council is presenting to the student body for rejection or approval a series of three amendments. The amendments as yet have not been drawn up, but they are expected to be by next Friday's election.

One of the amendments calls for a change in representation on the Student Council. Another will set up a Board of Governors to consist of students and faculty members. The third will create an association of University students for which voluntary dues will be collected.

In next week's issue we will attempt to print these amendments or a brief summary of them. It is asking too much for students to go to the polls and vote on something which they have never before seen. Gateways will be distributed early Friday morning so as to permit students to have ample time to study the amendments before going to the polls.

YOUTH AND REBELS

THE editor of the Gateway for next semester has been quoted in a news story as saying that she is not a radical. While we would be the last person to begrudge another his or her opinions, we cannot help but feel that the editor for next semester has been misquoted.

Young people are naturally rebels. They are not, of course, all adherents of the radical parties, as some ill-informed persons would have us believe. That they are not inclined to look with approving eyes upon this "vale of tears" into which they have been born is likewise true.

The mind of youth, untarnished by years of toil and struggle, looks with a discerning eye upon society. That there are defects galore to be found not even the most hardened reactionary will deny. It is no wonder then that the critical eyes of youth uncover defects and that they are not always ready to swallow the stereotyped opinions their fathers acquired many years ago.

It is youth's privilege to be rebellious. There is always hope for a country whose youth refuse to accept life as it comes and are ready to make changes. There will always be a clash between young and old, radical and conservative. It is natural that young persons will not always accept the hackneyed thoughts of their elders. Thus it is that we feel next year's editor of The Gateway has been misquoted.

The success with which the annual Play Day at Omaha University met with this year is but another sign of the activity of the W. A. A. This wide-awake organization has done much to publicize the University and we believe should receive the hearty thanks of friends of the University.

Thru The Keyhole

It's about time the school did something for the boys, so they inaugurated May 1? Day . . . A local "patriotic" group took a dislike to a certain part in the Ma-le show, so it was cut . . . wonder who reports to them? . . . Wonder if the boys are getting smart . . . there was an unusual number of stags at Peony Park . . . probably ran out of material, and vice versa . . . Weber and Benny are no longer the friends they were . . . it was the usual difficulty . . . What does Elinor Johnson's boy friend (?) think about her having two dates with Al Thornton? . . . or does he think? . . . wonder what THEIR argument was about . . . Pi O party last week . . . Ho Hum . . . nothing happened, according to Race . . . (too many Pi O's?) . . . Evidently Lloyd knows all about the results of certain courses offered in Body-Beautiful McFadden's magazines . . . Hey, boy, order a quart of Bromo . . . The Thetas won the Old Gold contest . . . With the Betas counting they were due to win one prize by hook or crook . . . Ask the Alpha Sigs about the crook part . . . Ruth Saalfeld informs your correspondent that Donlon is nothing in her young life (she is 13) . . . or vice versa . . . She likes to keep 'em guessing . . . no one knows what the score is . . . They can take down the INTEGRITY sign in the Gateway's office now . . . Wonder what Amy will do this summer . . . Oh well, the trains are always running . . . 1,700 miles shouldn't make any difference . . . Woerner visited school this week . . . Looks like the Frosh have lost their intestinal fortitude by letting the Dean talk them out of their day . . . or maybe they heard that Pearey, Tyler, Crawford and Johnk were looking for them . . . However, according to the above mentioned upperclassmen we will have open season on Frosh for a week this year, instead of a day as foretold (doggone, must have been that punch I drank yesterday) . . . The show was much better than the rehearsals indicated, so you can imagine what the rehearsals were like . . . Wonder if the Sig Chi's will have a successful party? . . . It takes a fraternity to throw a real party, they have everybody there . . . No one can talk about anybody else when the party is small and everybody knows everybody else . . . Administration: Why not paint those garbage cans with the school colors? . . . and identify them with the campus . . . Good thing there's covers on them . . . Now if they would just place a few of them in the buildings where they will do some real good as a catch-all for those returned exams and class notes . . . Two editors were selected for the next semester on the Gateway, but only one had HER picture in the paper . . . Thompson (Dean) was glad she was picked because he thinks she is level-headed. I guess the present staff keeps him jittery . . . About the only dirt I could find this week was mixed up in my ice cream . . . We had horse-meat barbecue last year and I guess they used the same horse again this year . . . But I must not forget my poem for the week . . . here 'tis . . .

I have led a good life, full of peace and quiet; I shall have an old age, full of rum and riot. I have been a good boy, used to peace and study; I shall have an old age, ribald, coarse and bloody. I have never cut throats, even when I yearned to; Never sang the dirty songs that my fancy turned to; I have been a nice boy and done what was expected; I shall be an old bum, loved but unrespected. S'long . . .

Re-Elected To Position

DON R. McMAHILL

Don R. McMahon, '32, former editor of The Gateway, has been re-elected to his teaching position in the Big Springs, Nebraska, high school. McMahon is expected to be in Omaha shortly after June 1.

Neighboring Ice House Residents Should Petition

"If a majority of the residents within 250 yards sign a petition to change the zoning of 24th and Pratt streets the City Council will have to act, and the ice house would have to be removed," said Mr. Rodman Brown, of the City Building department, Thursday morning, May 16, after being questioned by a Gateway reporter concerning the two petitions submitted to the City Council and President William E. Sealock's personal letter to Mayor Towl.

The two petitions submitted by the Municipal University of Omaha and the Evangelical Covenant Hospital were turned over to the City Building department by Mayor Towl's secretary, Mr. Hunter Scott.

"If the building is a health or fire nuisance the Council can legally act, also," said Mr. Scott. "The matter was referred to the building department to see that the owner was complying with all regulations."

A letter has been written to Dr. Sealock by the building department, stating that any action of the City Council may be appealed to the law courts, but that if the majority of the residents within 250 yards sign a proper petition the Council would be forced to act. Then a complaint should be filed referring to the ice house as a nuisance.

"Those two steps," stated Mr. Brown, "would accomplish the University's desires of removing the ice house permanently."

Thetas First In Old Gold Contest

The twenty-five dollar prize for collecting the most Old Gold cigarette wrappers was won by Theta Phi Delta fraternity, a count of the ballots revealed Friday.

The Thetas collected 738 wrappers while the Betas had 445 to cop the second prize of ten dollars. The Phi Sigs collected 100 while the Alpha Sigs had but six.

The wrappers were counted by a committee of three—John Moucka, president of the Pan-Hel council; Macy Baum, newly elected Gateway business manager; and Franklin Buxton, editor of the Gateway.

Paul Polmantier, '34, will receive a master's degree in history from the University of Nebraska in June.

STUDENT FORUM

A DISILLUSIONED SENIOR COMMENTS ON GRADUATION

To the Editor:

Four years gone. The best years of one's life—all shot to hell. And now, Commencement. Sheepskins. And life behind a push-cart.

The seniors—what a bunch they were—in a class by themselves. They served their Alma Mater fairly faithfully. They upheld her traditions. Under them many things were accomplished. But now Graduation. The outcome of a bitter struggle of many mediocre minds and a few brilliant ones trying to study and to comprehend the follies that the older generation has and is perpetrating on humanity.

After years of toil and struggle the proud student is presented with a senseless bit of parchment proclaiming him to be educated. A college graduate. A scholar. As though the mere possession of this parchment could make an intelligent thinking person out of an individual.

Many will leave the school and marry, some will work in menial positions, and a chosen few, either because of wealth or ability, will wind up in positions of importance and become an asset to this world, already overburdened with liabilities. The main idea of the graduates will be to get jobs. Some want a wife and a little peace and quiet, though how the last two can be combined is somewhat vague in their minds.

W.A.A. PLAY DAY SUCCESS DESPITE RAINY WEATHER

By CECIL DeLONG

The annual W. A. A. Play Day met in the rain, and dispersed just as the sun came out, but a noisy time was had by all.

One hundred and fifty girls representing Omaha, Council Bluffs, Sidney, Iowa, and Blair, Nebraska, high schools gathered on the University campus for an Indian Play Day, Saturday morning, May 11. Upon registering, the girls lost their individual identity and were known only by a tag which designated them as belonging to one of the ten Indian tribes represented, namely: Arapaho, Navajo, Cheyenne, Iroquois, Winnebago, Chippawa, Sioux, Pawnee, Omaha, and Dakota.

Due to the rain, the activities were held indoors, and the ten tribes competed with each other in a play program which included Nebraska ball, ping-pong, spot ball, bean bag bombardment and relays. Later the girls were led by Miss Diamond in a number of folk dances. From the sounds issuing from the gym it was obvious that some of the dances were similar to the Indian war dances—at least the war whoops.

At the faculty conference, Mrs. Pearl M. Weber spoke on "The Philosophy of Play," and Mrs. Jimmie Musselman on the "Organization of Play Days." Miss Ruth Diamond gave a report on the National Amateur Athletic Federation convention, which was held at Pittsburgh recently.

All precedent and all library rules were broken when the tribes gathered in the library for a feast. The quiet and serenity of that sanctuary was shaken by songs, cheers, Chinese toasts and acclamations.

The group returned to the gymnasium, where entertainment was provided under the leadership of Lucille Mitchell. The program included two vocal selections by Myrna George, readings by Lucille Mitchell and Amy Rohacek, while a group of Pi Omega girls, headed by Nana Davis, gave a novelty dance number.

Martin Oelrich, '38, is working at Peony Park this summer. He started last Friday.

University Celebrates Ma-ie Day Under "Princess Attira" Larson

By JOHN PEARSON

Ma-ie Day was a success yesterday in spite of the fact that old man weather looked like he would forbid such carryings-on.

The afternoon was taken up by the athletic events. A spirit of exuberance was present even though many students didn't arrive until later, and all joined in to celebrate the first Ma-ie Day properly. As was to be expected, little swimming was done.

The crowning of Eleanor "Archie" Larson as Princess Attira furthered the festival spirit.

The show, "Pass the Bucks," was a "howling" success, and those participating did themselves proud, according to those in the audience.

Last, but not least, the College Club orchestra played for the dance. When the final faint strains came from the band announcing that Ma-ie Day was over, another Omaha University custom was established.

Nana Davis as Sally Jones and Harold Grau as Joe Smith played the lead roles in the play, "Pass the Bucks." Other members of the cast included Lewis Leigh, Myrna George, Paul Brawner, Glen Cunningham, Janet Vincent, Eddie Kirschenbrock, Robert Fritchhoff.

Jack Maloney, Bill Holland, Kathryn Stuart, Blandwyn Hollier, Betty Young, Lucille Mitchell, Janet Hamilton, and Alyce Wear.

Bob Race, Duane Butler and George Knipprath handled the lights and the back-stage troubles during the Ma-ie Day show.

New Orphan Passed Out to Uni. Students

The "New Orphan," a twelve-page magazine, was distributed among students at the Ma-ie Day Festival yesterday.

Entitled the "Dr. Thompson Issue," the magazine contained comments on the activities of the dean of men during the past year.

Editors of the magazine are unknown.

Omaha-Peru Tennis Match Is Cancelled

The Omaha-Peru tennis match scheduled for Wednesday afternoon was called off because of rain. The match may be played later in the season, Captain Bob Brown of the Omaha team said Wednesday.

Edwin Callin, '35, has been offered a post-graduate scholarship at the University of Nebraska. This is the scholarship awarded one outstanding senior from several of the neighboring colleges. Callin is uncertain whether he will accept it or not.

Sylvan Frankl, '38, and Howard Fischer, '34, are taking part in the play, "Louder, Please," which is being offered at the Community Playhouse this week. The last performance will be tomorrow night.

Who Is It?

By MAXINE SUNDERMAN

A member of The Gateway staff whose ability to convince local merchants that they should advertise in The Gateway has lifted that paper from virtual bankruptcy to a flourishing financial condition. Parsimonious in money matters. Graduates in June, but will not go to work, as he expects a chain letter he started last week to begin paying dividends by that time.

Manville Woodyard, '35, has been awarded a scholarship to the School of Business at the University of Chicago, paying one-half of the tuition. This scholarship is for one year of post-graduate work. Woodyard has not decided whether he will make use of the scholarship as yet.

Student Council Officers to Be Elected Friday

Members of the Student Council for next year will be elected at an all-University election to be held in the Men's Faculty building Friday, May 24.

Amendments to the Student Council constitution will also be submitted to students for their approval. The amendments will provide for a change in Council representation, the setting up of a Board of Governors, to consist of Council members and the Faculty committee on student relations.

The third amendment will provide for an association of University students for the purpose of promoting school activities. A membership fee in the form of an activities tax will be required of all members. Membership, however, will be voluntary. Woodrow Tietzort, president of the Student Council, said Thursday.

All three amendments are the result of a year's research work by Tietzort. He has studied the forms of student government at other American universities and his findings are embodied in the amendments to be offered at Friday's election.

Petitions from candidates for Student Council membership must be handed in to Miss Ruth Diamond, women's physical education director, by Wednesday noon.

"The Bear Rats of Dimple Street," a one-act play by Macy Baum, was presented at Ma-ie Day. Myron Tarnoff, Norman Wohlner, and the author made up the cast.

George Knipprath and John Pearson are planning to go to Vancouver, British Columbia, this summer.

Editorial Policy of Next Year's Staff Outlined in Board's Letter

The editorial policy suggested for next year's Gateway staff is indicated in a letter which was issued to a member of the staff by the Board of Publications early this week.

The letter stated in part:

"The Gateway is published under the direct authority of the Board of Student Publications," the letter states. "The chairman of the Board supervises and advises in the publication of The Gateway as seems necessary as individual problems present themselves. In general, however, the chairman of the Board permits the students freedom, believing that initiative, responsibility, and independence of thought and action are qualities rather to be sought after than discouraged in a student of newspaper practice."

"A spirit of closeness of feeling and co-operation with fellow workers and fellow students is not forgotten; rather a member of the staff of The Gateway sees the necessity of planning and working with others toward the end of an increasingly valuable publication," the letter declares.

"As problems present themselves in the University community the staff will be drawn to look at The Gateway as a record of one living university community rather than a broadside published for the self-emulation of staff members."

300 Students On Industrial Tour

Over 300 students from Nebraska and Iowa high schools participated in the Industrial Tour sponsored by the Municipal University of Omaha last Friday, May 17.

Students from Avoca, Ia., Lincoln, Midland College, Omaha high schools and Omaha University attended.

Miss Nell Ward, assistant professor of chemistry, had one group write their impressions of it, and they acclaimed it a fine success, and desired an annual tour of Omaha factories and industries.
